C. E. HEFFNER, FARMER, TAKES HIS LIFE AT 30

Charles Elmer Heffner, 30, York Springs R. 1, died Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock on his farm near York Springs.

Dr. C. G. Crist, Adams County coroner, termed the death a suicide.

The coroner said Heffner's lifeless body was found at 5:30 o'clock and that the death had occurred 3½ hours earlier. The York Springs area farmer, according to the coroner, had shot himself through the forehead with a .22 caliber rifle, using a string to pull the trigger. The death, which was instantaneous, occurred in Huntingdon Twp.

Heffner was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Heffner, Dillsburg R. 1, and was a member of the Harmony Bethel Church of God.

In addition to his parents, he is survived by his wife, the former Mary Dahr, and four brothers and sisters: Lawrence Heffner, Shiremanstown; Richard L. Heffner, Wellsville R. 1; Kenneth Heffner, Dillsburg R. 1; and Mrs. Roy M. Williams, York Springs.

His pastor, Rev. Donald Cohick, will officiate at funeral services Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Cocklin Funeral Home, Dillsburg. Interment in the Dillsburg Cemetery.

Friends may call at the Cocklin Funeral Home, Dillsburg, on Sunday evening after 7 o'clock.

Drill Team In Contest

On April 10 and 11 the Gettysburg College Army ROTC "Aggressor" Drill Team will participate in the National Cherry Blossom Festival in Washington, D. C.

This team, which won first place among the organized marching groups in the Halloween parades last fall in Gettysburg and Hagerstown, is noted for its sinister looking black uniforms, with red berets and its original precision marching movements.

On April 10 the team will compete in the National ROTC Drill Competition at the National Guard Armory. Last year the team finished 14th among 45 of the top colleges and universities in the country. On April 11 the team will march in the annual Festival Parade.

Among the members of the team are: Charles H. Lightner, son of Charles N. Lightner, South St.; and Joel Reaser, son of the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Paul L. Reaser, St. James Lutheran Church.

The drill team is commanded by Cadet Captain Rush Barr, of Conshohocken. Assisting him are Cadet Lts. David Bright of Norristown, and Craig Kerr of Warren.

Waiting For The Worst

Snow spreads a mantle of white over little Swiss village of Herbrigen, practically deserted in the face of a threatened avalanche from surrounding mountains. Most of the 250 inhabitants spend their nights in a safe barracks a mile down the valley, returning daily to carry away their belongings piece by piece. Millions of tons of rock, ice and earth teeter on the Nadelhorn mountain precipice overhanging the town. Sooner or later, the slide is expected to engulf Herbrigen. (AP Wirephoto)

Jacob W. Menges Will Be Candidate

Jacob W. Menges, 16 Lincoln Drive, Conewago Twp., announced today as a candidate for the Republican nomination for Adams County prothonotary at the May 19 primary. Mr. Menges, who was the first secretary and now one of the directors of the Adams County Young Republicans, is treasurer of the Adams County Republican Committee.

Mr. Menges is a veteran of 3½ years of Navy duty in World War II, is employed by Borg-Warner at York. He also operates an insurance business and has been a notary public for four years.

He is affiliated with many community organizations and is a past president of the Retarded Children's Association of Adams County.

W. W. SHEELY EXPIRES AT 85

William W. Sheely, 85, of Bendersville, died Friday evening at 7 o'clock at the Warner Hospital where he had been a patient for 20 days. He had been in failing health the last three years.

A son of the late Daniel and Angeline (Walsh) Sheely, he was born and resided all of his life in Adams County, mostly in Bendersville. He was a laborer and a member of the Bendersville Lutheran Church and the Independent Order of Odd Fellows of Gettysburg.

His wife, the former Zula Lerew, died in 1955.

Surviving are two brothers and a sister: Arthur Sheely, Aspers; Miss Bessie Sheely, Bendersville; and Lee Sheely, Harrisburg.

Funeral services Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Dugan Funeral Home, Bendersville, with the Rev. Dr. O. D. Coble officiating. Interment in the Bendersville Cemetery. Friends may call Sunday evening from 7 to 9 o'clock at the funeral home in Bendersville.

Scout Leaders At "Show-Do" Meeting

Five Black Walnut Boy Scout District officials met with other Scout leaders of the York-Adams area Friday night at York for a "show and do" presentation by Keith Peaslee, director of Boy Scouting.

Peaslee outlined at Scout headquarters in York plans to establish "patrols" of adults who will master the various basic Boy Scout skills, fire building, first aid, signaling, etc., and then provide instruction for new adults coming into scouting, who in turn will train the Scouts.

The local contingent at the meeting include Edward Rohanna, scoutmaster of Troop 78, Gettysburg; Paul Kuhn, of the district Camping and Activities committee; Edgar Wolfe, scoutmaster of Troop 84, Littlestown; Allen Dubbs, scoutmaster of Troop 79, Gettysburg and District Field Executive Stanley C. Rogers.

Six County Girls To Receive Caps

Six Adams County girls will be included in the class of 47 who will receive their caps from the York Hospital School of Nursing next Friday evening.

Those to be capped are: Glenda Alwine, Abbottstown; Nadine Bigman, Gettysburg; Constance Boyd, Carolyn Brown, Jean Krout and Donna Reaver, all of Littlestown.

FHA COUNCIL APPROVES NEW CONSTITUTION

A new constitution, written by the Littlestown chapter, was adopted with minor changes by the Adams County Future Home-makers of America at a council meeting in the Gettysburg High School home economics room Thursday evening. The group met under the direction of Miss Margaret Brant, county home economics supervisor.

The council decided that no county FHA degree dinner will be held this year but that each chapter might hold its own if it desires. News items from the several chapters were assembled for the first issue of a news letter, named "Add-A-Bit."

These chapters were appointed to serve as committees: Program of work, Gettysburg High; ways and means, New Oxford; Red Rose chapter committee, Biglerville Senior High, and publicity, Biglerville Junior High.

The essay contest, which closes March 28, was discussed and announcement was made of the state FHA meeting to be held at Pennsylvania State University in June. The council decided to hold a mock meeting at its next session to acquaint representatives with the officers' duties and with parliamentary procedures.

The meeting was followed by a dinner provided by members from each chapter. Present were Darlene Funt, Elva Valentine and Bonnie Boyd, of Gettysburg; Margaret Cullison, Nancy Kime and Jane Spangler, of Fairfield; Janet DeHoff, Linda DeHoff and Linda Witters, of Littlestown; Linda Swisher, of New Oxford, and Carol Houck, Joan Irvin, Nellie Irvin, Carol Rex, Barbara Lee Seeburn and Rita Swartz, of Biglerville. Advisors from each school accompanied the girls.

The next meeting will be March 19 at New Oxford High School. There will be no "Add-A-Bit" for that meeting but one will be prepared in April.

ENTERS HOSPITAL

Elmer Altland Jr., Gettysburg R. 5, has been admitted as a patient at the Hanover General Hospital.

Chief Justice Earl Warren Quits American Bar Assn.

CHICAGO (AP)—The board of governors of the American Bar Assn. Friday night accepted the resignation of Chief Justice Earl Warren from the group.

Warren, 67, the 14th chief justice of the United States, had been a member of the ABA for 28 years.

In a brief statement, Ross L. Malone of Roswell, N.M., association president, said:

"The resignation of Chief Justice Earl Warren as a member of the American Bar Assn. was accepted today by the board of governors of the association."

"The termination of membership was in no way related to dues. The chief justice has assured me that he will cooperate with the association as he has done in the past."

No Dues Reference

Malone did not elaborate. The reference to dues in the statement apparently was in answer to earlier reports that the ABA had dropped Warren from its rolls for nonpayment of dues.

Shenk Services Held On Friday

Funeral services for Borough Councilman James S. Shenk, 3 Chambersburg St., who died suddenly Monday evening of a heart attack, were held Friday afternoon at the Bender Funeral Home at 2 o'clock with the Rev. Dr. Paul L. Reaser, pastor of St. James Lutheran Church, officiating. Interment was made in the Evergreen Cemetery.

The pallbearers were Warren Dunn, Donald McSherry, Paul Fox, Orville Orner, Francis Yost and Harold Ecker.

Mr. Shenk, who was 49, was sales manager for the Gettysburg Autoparts Co. He was a borough councilman from the Second Ward. He was a former exalted ruler of the local Elks lodge and served in many community organizations.

ARMY OFFICER SPEAKS HERE

Colonel William J. McConnell, of the Army War College, Carlisle, addressed the 70 advanced students in industrial psychology at Gettysburg College Thursday. He gave the students some "insight into the practical aspects of leadership behavior under various conditions of stress."

Colonel McConnell is a West Point graduate and has held various staff and combat leadership positions during his 20-year service. He has been an instructor at the Military Academy. His next assignment is professor of military science and training at Colorado State University where he will assume his new duties in July.

This talk was the first of a lecture series which has been designed to "bring to the students some of the realistic implications of their academic studies in the psychology of economic behavior. Guest speakers from the various areas of business and industry such as management, union, sales, advertising and investment will make up the remainder of the lecture series," it was announced.

The public is invited to attend these sessions, dates to be announced later by Dr. Edward R. Ostrander of the psychology department of the college.

FREE SUMMER MATH COURSE OFFERED HERE

To encourage outstanding students to pursue a career in science or mathematics, Gettysburg College will this summer offer a tuition-free mathematics course to a limited number of high school graduates.

Students who complete the course will be prepared to enroll in more advanced mathematics and physics courses at any college or engineering school.

Applicants must be recommended by their principals and mathematics teachers. They need not intend to matriculate at Gettysburg College.

8 Hours Credit

Eight hours of college credit will be given. There will be ten contact hours per week for twelve weeks. Additional information about the course may be obtained from the registrar at Gettysburg College.

The course will include: Analytical geometry: two dimensional coordinate systems, curve tracing, the straight line, the conic sections, higher plane curves, polar and parametric plotting, three dimensional coordinate system, the plane, quadric surfaces, cylindrical and spherical coordinates. Calculus: Theory of limits, derivatives and tangents, normals, maximum and minimum velocity and acceleration, differentials and approximations, curvature, mean value and indeterminate forms.

Indefinite integrals, the constant and integration, approximations, the definite integral, the integral as limit of a sum, areas, length of arc, partial derivatives, multiple integrals, centroids, moment in inactive lateral area, volumes, convergence of infinite series of constant, power series, Taylor and MacLaurin series and approximations.

BIBLE SOCIETY DONATES $350

The treasurer of the Gettysburg Bible Society was directed to send an additional $100 to the American Bible Society by the executive committee of the local group which held its annual meeting at the home of Mrs. Milton R. Remmel, E. Middle St., Friday afternoon.

Mrs. H. E. Berkey, the president, presided. She also conducted the devotional service consisting of Scripture reading and prayers offered by the members present. Mrs. Louise Hoffman gave the secretary's report.

Mrs. C. C. Culp, the treasurer, reported that since last December 1 the society had received $378 from the five cooperating churches in the community. Of this amount $250 already has been sent to the American Bible Society. By Friday's action, the treasurer will send an additional $100.

Bibles to the value of $12.50 were bought and re-sold at cost to persons who wished to have them, reports showed.

Society officers said the local society is "ready and willing" to donate Bibles and New Testaments to persons or institutions who need them but are not able to pay for them. They will also furnish the World Wide Bible reading book marks to be used between Thanksgiving and Christmas, if desired by anyone.

Presbyterian WF Units Busy Tonight

Westminster Fellowship groups at the Presbyterian Church have special events planned for this evening.

At 5:30 o'clock the Junior High WF will meet at the church to start on a "progressive dinner" and return to the church at 9:45 p.m. The Senior High WF group will leave from the church at 6:30 o'clock for Hershey and the Ice Capades.

At the regular Sunday morning service at 10:45 o'clock, the pastor, the Rev. Robert A. MacAskill, will deliver a sermon on "Deepening Discipleship" and the Junior Choir will present special music.

A special meeting of the congregation is called for 7:30 o'clock Sunday evening when a building and renovation committee will present a report.

FILE ESTATE BOND

An administration bond was filed this morning in the office of register and recorder by Anna L. Williams in the estate of Elizabeth H. Bell, late of Gettysburg, valued at $1,500. Personal property is listed at $900 and $600 is in real estate.

DR. ZINN CRITICAL

The condition of Dr. John B. Zinn, W. Broadway, who suffered a heart attack Wednesday, was described as "critical" at the Warner Hospital today.

Littlestown Has Two Fire Alarms

Littlestown firemen had an active morning today. The Alpha Fire Co. was called at 8 a.m. to extinguish a tractor fire on the Francis P. Smith farm near Christ Church. Fire Chief Glen Ohler estimated the damage at $200.

A second call was received at 9:45 a.m. when a grass fire at the rear of the Elmer Stoner residence spread. A small building was threatened but firemen controlled the fire quickly. Damage was negligible, the chief said.

EXPLORERS TO LEARN ABOUT SEAMANSHIP

Explorer Scouts throughout the area and their leaders will have an opportunity to learn seamanship at a special course, leading to a certificate from the U. S. Coast Guard, to be given at the library of the American Legion Club building, Baltimore St., starting Friday.

Crosby N. Hartzell, camping and activities chairman of the Black Walnut Boy Scout district, said the course will be held, starting at 7:30 p.m. each evening, on nine consecutive Friday nights, February 27 through April 17.

B. W. Hughes, Guernsey, recently approved by the U. S. Coast Guard as an instructor in this area after completing a number of courses given by the Coast Guard, will be in charge of instruction.

The course will include "The Two Parts of Seamanship," "Aids To Navigation," "Shorts and Compass," "The Rules of the Road" and "Safe Motorboat Operation."

An oral and written examination will be given April 24, after completion of the nine-week course, and those passing will receive a certificate from the U. S. Coast Guard. The group passing the examination will be taken on a trip on Mr. Hughes' cruiser on the Chesapeake Bay this summer.

For Explorers there will be no charge for the instruction. Hartzell said. For all adult participants there will be a charge of $2 to cover materials, charts, etc.

COL. CHRISTY TO TALK HERE

Lt. Col. John J. Christy, a holder of the Distinguished Service Cross for outstanding service with the Army, will be the speaker Thursday at a joint meeting of the Adams County Reserve Officers Association, the Gettysburg College Cadet Corps chapter of the Association of the U. S. Army and the Scabbard and Blade Military Society of Gettysburg College.

The session will be held at the college gymnasium at 8:30 p.m. Colonel Christy, a former newspaperman and 1938 graduate of Rhode Island State College, served as chief of information for Headquarters of the U. S. Army in the Pacific at Hawaii before being assigned to the U. S. Army War College at Carlisle in August.

He once served under General Willard S. Paul, now president of Gettysburg College. He will speak on the duties of the public information officer in the Army.

Miss Brumbach Is Elected Teacher

Miss Audrey E. Brumbach, Bangor, Pa., formerly of Littlestown, has been elected to a teaching position in the South Western Joint School System of York County. She was one of nine instructors named at a board meeting Thursday for the new junior-senior high school to be opened in the fall.

Miss Brumbach is a graduate of Bangor High School and is a student at Bloomsburg State Teachers' College. She is the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. John C. Brumbach, formerly of Littlestown, now of Bangor.

U.S. Senator Hugh Scott Will Deliver Address In National Cemetery May 30

SENATOR SCOTT

Will Be 99 Or 103 Sunday

One of Adams County's oldest residents, possibly the oldest, will celebrate her birthday anniversary Sunday but she is 99 or 103 or somewhere in between.

She is Mrs. Elizabeth Gilbert, widow of George Gilbert, who resided for many years at Bonneville and has been a guest at the county home since 1953.

There is no doubt about February 22 being her birthday anniversary but she cannot say and none of her family knows the year of her birth. Baptismal records have not been located in Baltimore where she was Elizabeth Filmore before marrying Mr. Gilbert many years ago. Her husband died more than 50 years ago.

Mrs. Gilbert had one son, Charles, who died 12 years ago. The only relatives are grandnieces, who reside in Baltimore.

Mrs. Gilbert's birthday will be celebrated Sunday along with other February birthdays at the county home. A special gift will be a new Rosary. The one she has been using is broken.

Pa. SV Commander To Speak March 19

Dr. Charles Higgs, Pennsylvania Department commander of the Sons of Union Veterans, will speak March 19 at a joint meeting of the Gettysburg, New Oxford and York camps of the SUV and their auxiliaries to be held at the New Oxford camp armory, Chester S. Shriver announced Friday evening at a meeting of the local SUV at the GAR rooms, E. Middle St.

Donald Eugene Smith, W. High St., was initiated as a new member at Friday's meeting. A resolution of respect in the death of Past Commander Harry G. Deatrick was passed. Past Commander David Tawney presided at the meeting.

Four Morning Calls For Local Firemen

Gettysburg firemen were called to four fires in quick succession this morning.

The first was reported at 7:50 o'clock at the home of Arthur Buehler, two miles south of here on the Littlestown Rd. where a blaze had started in baseboards behind a fireplace. Little damage was reported.

A few moments after the firemen returned from the Buehler fire, they were summoned about 9 o'clock to a grass fire near the Ramsey Beer Distributors, Lincolnway East. It had burned itself out by the time firemen arrived.

Two other alarms were sounded before noon today. Both were for grass fires. A large field near the Peace Light Inn was burned over and the other, smaller in extent, was near the water tower at Hillcrest.

Hospital Report

Admissions: Baxter Chenoweth, Taneytown; Mrs. J. Willis Weigle, Biglerville; Wilbur Topper, Emmitsburg; Mrs. Robert L. Stoner, R. 1; Mrs. Fred W. Bushey, Littlestown; Mrs. Lacy Hemrick, R. 2; Mrs. Mark Spangler, Littlestown R. 2.

Discharges: Mrs. William Albright and infant daughter, Spring Grove R. 2; Mrs. Sarah Conover, Littlestown; John Eiker, R. 1; Mrs. Charles Hartdagen and infant daughter, Emmitsburg; Miss Ruth Keckler, R. 3; Mrs. Harold Sprengle, Fairfield; Mrs. Edwin L. Trimmer and infant son, New Oxford R. 2.

U. S. Senator Hugh Scott will be the speaker here Memorial Day, the local May 30th committee learned Friday evening at a meeting in the GAR rooms, E. Middle St.

A special speakers' committee set up by the Memorial Day group, comprising Chester S. Shriver of the Sons of Union Veterans, Francis Wisotzky of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and Lawrence M. Sheads, American Legion, reported that Senator Scott has accepted their invitation and will be the featured speaker at the services at the rostrum in the National Cemetery.

Senator Scott served for eight terms as a congressman from a Philadelphia district before being elected U. S. senator last fall. He has also served as a U. S. delegate to the United Nations and is a veteran of U. S. Navy duty in both World War I and World War II. Married, he is the father of a daughter and has one granddaughter. He is a member of the Episcopal Church, a lawyer, a member of Phi Beta Kappa scholastic honorary fraternity and holds four university degrees.

"Irish Brigade" Event

The "Irish Brigade Memorial Association of Philadelphia," also known as the Tyrone Men's Social, Benevolent and Patriotic Society of Philadelphia, will participate in the annual Memorial Day parade here and will hold services at the Irish Brigade monument, the Celtic Cross, at the Wheatfield following the May 30 exercises.

Members of the Memorial Day committee approved an invitation to the Irish Brigade group to enter their 45-man band 25-piece bagpipe unit in the parade and for the members of the Tyrone and other Irishmen's organizations to march in the Memorial Day parade if they wish.

Thomas McGulgan Jr., Philadelphia, said the Philadelphia group had received information from a New York unit representing the Fighting 68th of New York and from a Baltimore group stating those units plan to join with Philadelphia Irish group in the participation here May 30 in the local observance and the program at the Celtic Cross.

Winebrenner Is Marshal

LeRoy H. Winebrenner was chosen as marshal for the parade, a position he has held for years. Winebrenner said at the meeting he has served as a marshal or aide in Memorial Day parades here since 1924.

A discussion on the new United States flag showed that the 49-starred flag will not be permitted for use until July 4, and that the 48-starred flag will probably continue to appear in parades here for years. A report showed that the replacement of 48-starred flags with 49-starred flags is to take place as the old flags wear out.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars firing squad was listed to place the bunting on the rostrum at the National Cemetery and to fire the salute at the ritual program. Next meeting of the committee will be held April 3.

Ike Is Home From Mexico

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower returned to freezing Washington this morning after a two-day good neighbor visit with President Adolfo Lopez Mateos of Mexico in sunny Acapulco, Mexico.

Eisenhower had hoped to stop off at Augusta, Ga., first for a week end of golf. But after apparently receiving reports in flight that the Georgia weather still was too cold, windy and wet for golf, he had his personal plane, Columbine III, head for Washington.

In 20 degree weather he stepped down the ramp at the MATS terminal and was greeted by Acting Secretary of State Christian A. Herter.

Eisenhower wore a brown overcoat but no muffler. His face was ruddy in the cold morning air.

LIST TWO SPEAKERS

James Holder, president of the Pennsylvania Tavern Association and Paul Forte, executive director of the organization, Harrisburg, will be the speakers Sunday evening at the annual dinner of the Adams County Tavern Association to be held at the New Oxford Social and Athletic Club at 6:30 o'clock. Approximately 10 tavern keepers, their wives and assistants are expected for the meeting.

BOARD TO MEET

The board of directors of the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce will meet Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock at the Chamber office in the Plaza building. Mrs. Helen Snyder, secretary, at nounced today.

CONVICT MAN ON 28 COUNTS OF ROBBERY

NORRISTOWN, Pa. (AP) — A Montgomery County jury made it official Thursday: Henry Silva, an itinerant dishwasher, is the well-mannered Bandana Bandit who has been robbing fashionable suburban homes since 1952.

Silva, 39, was convicted on 28 counts of robbery, armed robbery and burglary. He was acquitted on five charges of armed robbery and violation of the firearms act.

Sentencing was postponed pending a motion for a new trial. If no motion is made, Judge Morris Gerber is expected to sentence him Tuesday.

Fifty Robberies
The jury of six women and five men—reduced from the normal 12 by illness—deliberated four-and-a-half hours before returning a verdict.

Silva took the verdict calmly and listened impassively during the 15 minutes it took to record the jury's verdict on each count and poll the jurors.

Police said Silva was responsible for 50 or more robberies in homes on the outskirts of Philadelphia. He was brought to trial, however, for only 12 robberies. The victims appeared as witnesses and identified Silva.

In charging the jury, Judge Gerber said the identification testimony given by 10 persons was the heart of the Commonwealth's case.

Seek Hit-Run Car In Cashtown Crash

State police today continued their search for a hit and run auto which smashed into the car of Thomas H. Frantz, 42, 427 Carlisle St., Friday night at 8:10 o'clock while Frantz's car was parked outside the home of Harry Bittinger, Cashtown, along the road leading from the new Route 30 to Cashtown.

Police said Frantz had parked his auto off the road and on a sidewalk at the Bittinger home and was about his duties as an insurance agent when his vehicle was struck by the unknown car. Traces of paint on the Frantz auto, which had $150 damage to its left rear side and door, indicated that the hit-run auto was maroon in color.

Countain In 3-Car Crash In Hanover

A 15-year-old Hanover girl was hospitalized after a three-car accident at Elm Ave., and Carlisle St., Hanover, Friday night at 9:30.

Nancy Yohe, daughter of Mrs. Pauline Yohe, 401 Baltimore St., Hanover, suffered multiple cuts of the chin and had four upper and five lower front teeth knocked out. Her condition was listed as satisfactory at Hanover General hospital.

Police said she was a passenger in a car driven by Truman W. Wright, 21, of 34 West Green St., Westminster. Her sister, Nancy Anne Yohe, 25, another passenger, suffered shock but no injuries, according to Hanover hospital authorities.

The other drivers were identified by police as Sterling J. Reichart, 31, of Hanover R. 2, and Gerald J. Neiderer, 49, McSherrystown. Total damage was estimated at about $1,000.

ROBIN ARRIVES TODAY

The first report of a robin being sighted in the Gettysburg area came this morning from Robert Dubbs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Dubbs, N. Howard Ave. Robert observed the red-breasted har-binger of warmer weather along Seminary Ave. His mother confirmed the identity of the bird.

BEAR'S MANAGER RETIRES

John S. Boyer, who started to work in 1912 as an office boy for the Charles H. Bear & Co. department store in York and rose to become the store's general manager in 1942, retired this week. He is succeeded by George W. Manne-mann, who has been assistant general manager.

SPEAKERS FOR LIONS

Walter B. Lane and G. Henry Roth will show a film and tell of the work of the Gettysburg Travel Council at the weekly dinner meeting of the local Lions Club Monday evening at 6 o'clock at the Shelter House.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The American Newspaper Guild struck the St. Louis Globe-Democrat today in a dispute over pensions.

A picket line was established at the morning newspaper's plant at 3 a.m.

The Globe-Democrat announced in today's editions that it appeared extremely likely it would be forced to suspend publication. All of today's editions were delivered or en route to delivery when the strike began.

Some 330 editorial, advertising and business department employees, members of Guild Local 47, are involved.

WEATHER MAY HURT SKIERS

SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (AP) — Olympics planners, plagued by a myriad of weather problems, launched the North American Ski Championships today with tricky men's and women's slalom competition.

The weatherman offered the 100 competitors occasional snow showers for this first dress rehearsal event for next year's winter Olympics. A storm off the Pacific Coast which could bring further grief was closely watched.

Seven foreign nations — Russia, Chile, Japan, Norway, Austria, Canada and India — have representation. From India comes Jerry Bujakowski, a student at Wenechee College in Washington.

Werner Is Favored
Favored in the men's race are Buddy Werner of Steamboat Springs, Colo., the top U.S. Olympic ski threat, and Christian Prada, formerly of Austria and now at Sun Valley.

Top women stars include Joan Hannah of Mammoth, Calif., leading off; Sally Deaver of White-Marsh, Pa., and Renie Cox from Port Leydon, N.Y.

Willy Schaeffer, director of Olympic ski events, said six or eight inches of new snow on the slalom courses could be packed down with little trouble, but a heavy fall "would complicate things."

Three Killed In Turnpike Crash

BEDFORD, Pa. (AP) — Three persons were killed and three others were injured early today as an auto ran into the rear of a tractor-trailer on the Pennsylvania Turnpike about eight miles west of Bedford.

The Bedford County coroner's office identified the dead as Richard L. Boelio, 29, a soldier stationed at Ft. Lee, Va.; Franklin W. Martin Sr., 42, of Baltimore, Md.; and his son, Franklin Jr., about 10.

Three other members of the Martin family were hurt. They are the mother, Delma, 36; Wayne, 15; and Tanya, 11, all listed in good condition at Bedford County Memorial Hospital.

The coroner's office said Boelio, apparently a hitch-hiker picked up by the family, was driving the car. He apparently fell asleep or lost control, the coroner's office reported.

The truck driver escaped injury.

Cat Likes To Ride On Autos' Axles

DETROIT, Mich. (AP) — A cat with a penchant for perching on car axles is under observation at the Detroit dog pound.

Police noticed the cat when Mrs. Louise M. Stamenoff pulled up to a station and told an officer "I've been riding around in my car with this cat on my axle for over an hour. He keeps meowing under there. It's annoying. People are stopping and staring at me."

Cat psychology failed, so the police resorted to other means. They squirted the cat with a hose. He jumped off Mrs. Stamenoff's axle and climbed up on the axle of a police ambulance.

Dog pound attendants donned heavy gloves and went in after the cat. They got him.

WAYNESBORO, Pa. (AP) — A. Stover Fitz Friday rounded out 50 years service as an official of the borough of Waynesboro.

The 82-year-old municipal worker began 50 years ago as borough secretary. In 1922 he was named borough manager and in 1950 he was appointed treasurer and assistant borough manager.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A Buckley Contracting Co. employee making payroll deliveries Friday was struck down from behind by a man who seized one payroll and then fled into the labyrinth of tunnels at the Pennsylvania Railroad Company's 30th Street Station.

A Buckley employee said the payroll deliveries were being made by automobile. He said the messenger, not identified, was just taking one of three payrolls from the car when he was hit on the neck.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A. J. Caruso, executive director of the General State Authority, is in University Hospital for a gall bladder operation.

HARRISBURG (AP) — A new bill before the Senate Education Committee today would boost state aid for school construction.

The measure would make the basis for state subsidies for construction purposes $1200 per elementary school pupil and $1900 per secondary school pupil. The present limit is $1100 for elementary and $1700 for secondary school youngsters.

The bill was introduced Tuesday by Sens. Ernest F. Walker (R-Cambria) and Z. H. Confair (R-Lycoming).

EDINBORO, Pa. (AP) — Edinboro State Teachers College announced Friday that next September it will begin granting master of education degrees in elementary and secondary education.

Dr. Thomas R. Miller, president of the college, said western Pennsylvania teachers thus will have to be able to secure degrees without travelling to universities at Pittsburgh, Cleveland or Buffalo. Most of the new classes will be taught in the evenings and on Saturdays as well as in the summer sessions.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John Marshall Butler (R-Md.) says television and TV advertisers must clean house or face the possibility of Congress doing it for them.

The networks, Butler said, are digging their own graves by offering programs which he contended are devoted to wholesale murder and commercials "geared to know-nothings."

Butler said commercial TV and TV advertisers appear to have adopted an attitude of the "public be damned."

Six Congressmen Place Wives On U.S. Payroll

WASHINGTON (AP) — As it does almost every year, nepotism today attracted a spotlight on Capitol Hill.

The ancient political practice of giving government jobs to relatives receives attention annually when the House of Representatives reveals its office payroll.

This year's records show that at least six of the 82 new House members have their wives on the payrolls. The wives' salaries range from $4,047 to $13,344 a year.

Sen. 19, On Payroll

In addition, Rep. Steven V. Carter (D-Iowa), a freshman congressman, hired his 19-year-old son, a freshman college student, as an $11,000-a-year assistant.

The Senate refuses to open its payroll records to public scrutiny. Any nepotism there usually is a secret.

The congressmen's justification for the practice is that the relatives do important work and fully earn their pay.

"We have always been a team," Rep. Leonard G. Wolf (D-Iowa) said, explaining why his wife, Marilyn, is on the payroll for $1,037.91 a month.

The five other new congressmen with wives on the payroll were:

Rep. Robert W. Levering (D-Ohio) (Wife Eileen, $12,527).

Rep. Denver D. Hargis (D-Kan.) (Wife Charlee, $8,192).

Rep. Ralph Rivers (D-Alaska) (Wife Martha, $4,800).

Rep. Randall S. Harmon (D-Ind.) (Wife Mary, $4,424).

Rep. William H. Meyer (D-Vt.) (Wife Bertha, $4,047).

INDICTED ON MURDER PLOT

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A grand jury Thursday indicted secretary Pauline Weiss on a charge of solicitation to commit murder in an alleged plot against her employer's wife.

The grand jury threw out a charge of attempted murder against Miss Weiss, 48.

Police said Miss Weiss confessed trying to hire a professional killer to slay Muriel Griffin, 53, of suburban Devon. She told police she was in love with and hoped to marry Mrs. Griffin's husband, Willard, 58, publishing firm executive.

Miss Weiss already had made payments of $225 toward the $600 fee for a hired killer when she was arrested Feb. 5 by a detective posing as the third gunman.

The indictment count is a misdemeanor, punishable by not more than two years imprisonment and a $500 fine.

Antique Auto Club Moves To Hershey

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP)—The Antique Automobile Club of America has decided to establish its national headquarters here.

William Pollock, Pottstown, president of the organization, said the headquarters location decision was unanimous since the group for the last four years have held their national fall meet in Hershey.

The headquarters will be located in the Hershey Museum Building.

KINGSTON, Pa. (AP)—Volunteer Fire Chief Herbert M. Kemmerer, 53, of nearby Lehman Township, collapsed and died after directing his men at a minor blaze Friday. Kemmerer operated a garage at Harveys Lake.

ARREST YOUTH FOR EXTORTION

CHICAGO (AP) — A minister's son, described by a police official as a "terribly mixed up kid," was seized by police Thursday night and charged with attempting to extort $3,000 from a doctor, a next door neighbor.

Police arrested Robert McQueen, 19, in a telephone booth in New Trier High School in suburban Winnetka as he talked to his intended victim, Dr. John G. Bellows, of suburban Glenview. Police said it was the third threatening call McQueen had made to Bellows in three nights.

Police Chief Arthur H. Pantley said McQueen admitted first phoning Bellows on Tuesday night, "telling the physician to pay $3,000, or else your five children will not be alive at the end of the month."

Bellows, an eye specialist, has five children ranging in age from 6 to 12 years.

McQueen's father is the Rev. Thomas C. McQueen, pastor of the Glenview United Church. The youth was held in $5,000 bond on the attempted extortion charge.

Pennys In Row With High Court

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Pennsylvania Railroad, hard-headed business organization that it is, has four all-too-real and expensive "ghosts" on its tracks today.

And the Pennsylvania Supreme Court, likewise not much given to supernatural skullduggery, is responsible for the situation.

It seems the PRR made up a new timetable which goes into effect tomorrow, and anticipating approval by the State Public Utility Commission, dropped the listings for two eastbound and two westbound trains.

But the court looked into a different crystal ball, and said the PRR couldn't eliminate the trains without commission approval. The result — the trains are still very much in action, but they aren't listed.

The Public Utility Commission will get into the spooky business at a hearing Friday in Harrisburg and the railroad will just have to stay haunted until then.

Accidents in which five or more persons were killed caused nearly 1,600 deaths in the United States in 1958.

KHRUSHCHEV TO PUSH WEST AT NEW TALKS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev apparently intends to press the Western powers hard in forthcoming talks to accept the present Communist rule of the countries of Eastern Europe.

U.S. officials said today that seems to be the significance of a blunt, little noticed section of a speech covering foreign policy issues which Khrushchev made Tuesday at Tula, a city south of Moscow.

Although Eastern European countries long have been under Communist governments, the Western powers have taken the line that Poland and Czechoslovakia, for instance, would some day gain freedom from what the West denounces as Communist tyranny.

Await Macmillan Talks

Authorities have been analyzing the Tula speech here and in other Western capitals for clues to Khrushchev's immediate and long-range objectives in his campaign against continued Western occupation of West Berlin. They expect much better information on his purposes after his talks this weekend with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

Khrushchev's Tula speech was regarded by experts in the State Department as taking a very tough line. He specifically warned the Western powers that if they tried to shoot their way to Berlin it would mean war.

Points To Facts

Addressing himself to Western leaders he declared:

"Therefore, we say: be sensible! Understand our position. We do not want any acquisitions, either political or material. Let us endorse that which has happened as a result of the second World War and which has been recognized by the whole world. It is not the liking of imperialists that after World War II socialism (communism) took root in Poland, the GDR (the East German Communist state), Czechoslovakia and other countries. Yet there is no escape from these facts."

FIRED AFTER NEAR CRASH

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's fourth near collision this week between an airliner and a military plane has resulted in the suspension of an air traffic controller at Indianapolis, Ind. The Federal Aviation Agency announced Friday night that the controller "has been removed from control duties pending a more complete investigation."

The controller was not identified. His removal was in connection with a close brush earlier in the day between a Capital Airlines Constellation carrying 32 persons and an Air Force C-123 cargo plane.

The incident occurred over Daley, Ky. Both pilots said they took evasive action to avoid a crash. There were no injuries.

A preliminary investigation, the FAA said, indicated "that an error in estimating position occurred in the Indianapolis Air Route Traffic Control Center."

To Judge Display Of Hanover Scouts

Approximately 350 persons viewed the displays of 25 Explorer, Scout and Cub units in the basement of Clearview Shopping Center, Hanover, when the annual merit badge and handicraft show of Coneago Boy Scout District opened Friday night.

About 500 youths are participating in the two-day event. Prizes will be awarded tonight to competing units in the Cub, Scout, and Explorer categories. The show will be open from today from 1 to 10 p.m.

Three members from the camping and activities committee from Black Walnut District, headed by Crosby N. Hartzell, will judge the exhibits this afternoon.

Committee members who planned the exhibits are: John Huston, John Lowe, Norman Blouse, Albert Miller and Paul Kreuzer.

FOUR CHILDREN PERISH IN FIRE

BOSTON, Mass. (AP) — Four children perished and another was critically burned early today when fire roared through the second floor of a three-story tenement house on Washington street in the Roxbury district. The children's parents escaped serious injury.

Found dead in their beds when firefighters reached them were: Robert Watkins, 12, his brothers, Stephen, 10, and Clarence, 3, and his sister Della, 14 months.

Another Watkins youngster, Melvin, 6, was taken to City Hospital where his condition was described as critical.

Police officers John Lydon and William Keane said Mr. and Mrs. Orlando Watkins, both in their 30s, ran to the street for help when a space heater in the apartment exploded.

When firefighters arrived, the stairs to the apartment were engulfed in flames.

Mr. and Mrs. Watkins were reported in good condition at City Hospital. Each suffered shock and burns.

Cause of the fire was undetermined, police said.

HAS 21ST CHILD

ASHLAND, Pa. (AP) — Mrs. Ernie Lucas, 44, had her eighth son Friday—but he's nevertheless outnumbered by the girls in the family.

The baby is her 21st child. The father, William, is an independent mine operator. All but one of the other children, the oldest of whom is 29, are living.

NIKE HERCULES JUST MISSES FIVE PERSONS

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—A mighty Nike-Hercules shook off its shackles, went astray and missed a cluster of southern New Mexico ranch buildings by a scant 200 yards.

An explosive charge, which was meant to destroy it in flight in case it went out of control, blew up when the rocket speared in, gouging a hole 10 feet deep and 30 feet wide.

It was a close call for five adults and one child, but a military spokesman said no one was "even scratched."

The closest building was a stone-walled barn with a gabled wooden roof. The blast lifted the roof and set it down again. Inside, playing next to a stack of sacked cattle feed, was Karen Mauldin, 18 months old.

Outside, working in the corral, were her father, Kenneth, and the ranch owner, Don T. Lee, and his son, Charles.

Mrs. Don Lee was in her home about 270 yards from the place where the two-ton missile landed. Mrs. Mauldin was in another house about 250 feet from the hole the Hercules dug.

The tale of the errant anti-aircraft missile came to light Friday when Charles Lee drove to Alamogordo, N.M., north of El Paso, to get his wife and children. Lee phoned Ft. Bliss, at El Paso, from Alamogordo to tell them the missing Hercules lit on his father's ranch Thursday.

The missile was fired from McGregor missile training range in southcentral New Mexico.

District Attains Eisenhower Goal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The District of Columbia Friday claimed to be the first to reach its goal in the nationwide drive for three million dollars to build and equip the Eisenhower library in Abilene, Kan.

Banker Robert V. Fleming, chairman of the local committee, reported to Gov. George Dockett and former Sen. Harry Darby of Kansas, national cochairmen of the drive, that more than 800 contributions totaling $44,000 had been received here.

Status of the drives in the various states was not available here.

A Bit Of History About
John Markley Murder

By B. F. M. MacPHERSON

John Markley, Murderer

Further details on the murder of the John Newey family, which today is considered a classic in the annals of crime, can best be given, in part, by including the newspaper accounts not only of the event itself but also of the capture, trial, and execution of the murderer.Franklin Repository, Tuesday, January 11, 1831 —"Murder — Robbery — Arson
"Although the scene of the following massacre is not more than twenty miles from this place (Chambersburg, Pennsylvania),
we only received a vague account of it on yesterday week; and we did not then credit the horrid details. Subsequently, however, we conversed with a gentleman who visited the ruins shortly after the deeds were perpetrated. His narrative of the affair corresponded generally with the account given in the 'Adams Centinel.' He stated that the beds on which the bodies of Mrs. Newey and her children lay were situated near a window on the ground floor, which enabled the persons collected to throw such a quantity of wateron them as to prevent their chests from being consumed and that on an examination of them, it was discovered, that all three had been stabbed, apparently with a large knife — the mother in three or four places! It is an act of savage barbarity and wickedness unparalleled in the criminal annals of this or any other county — one's blood curdles in the contemplation of it.Note: — Apparently feeling was running high against the murderer, or murderers, not only in the neighborhood in which the crime was committed, but also in the neighboring counties, particularly in Adams. Had the man responsible been caught in the vicinity, within a short time after the discovery of the murders, he would probably have been rather badly treated — if not hanged
from the nearest tree.Franklin Repository, Tuesday, January 18, 1831 —"Baltimore, Maryland, January 10, 1831 — Arrest —"We learn that John Markley, who has recently been discharged from a five year term in the Maryland Penitentiary, and upon whom suspicion rested as being concerned in the late murder of the Newey family in the Har-baugh Valley — was last evening apprehended in this city (Baltimore) by Mr. W. Walker and two or three of our citizens — and after an examination by James Blair, Esq., was committed for further examination, which will be held on Saturday next at two o'clock in the afternoon. He (Markley) denied ever having been either in Gaol or State-prison, but on entering our prison
he was immediately recognized by one of the keepers of the Penitentiary, who happened to be there, as the same Markley described by the 'Frederick Citizen.'
On Friday night he slept at Westminster (Maryland), and on the following day arrived in Baltimore."The account he gave of himself
since the murder of the Newey family and the burning of their dwelling was contradictory throughout. It is hoped those citizens of Frederick who can give evidence on the case will not fail to attend the examination on Saturday next. Markley is a powerful, broad-shouldered, athletic man, and answers the description heretofore given of him.
There was found upon him a ten dollar Chambersburg note and a quantity of new clothing."The "Republican Compiler" gives an account of the "further examination" of John Markley at Baltimore, Maryland, on Saturday, January 15, 1831. This was published in the local paper on January 25, 1831."Examination of John Markley
— Another hearing for John Markley, the suspected murderer of the Newey family, was held January 15, 1831, before J. Bair, Esq., in the course of which some of the clothing of John Newey (the deceased) was found in the possession of Markley. It was positively identified by some of the witnesses from Frederick County. This and other corroborating circumstances leave but little doubt that Markley and his accomplice (who is stated to be a stout, good-looking, intelligent fellow, fair complexion, sandy hair and whiskers, and about five feet, ten or eleven inches tall,
and is supposed to have accompanied Markley to Baltimore after the murder) are the persons who committed this horrid outrage."Markley was seen the day before the crime within two miles of Newey's dwelling, and made inquiries as to whether or not Newey still lived in the same place, threatening that he would destroy the whole family, and then give himself up to be hung. On the night after the murder, Newey
and his companion stayed at Smith's town, about six milesfrom Newey's house. They sat up all night and departed by day break in the morning. Markley was re-committed and will be handed to the Sheriff of Frederick County, Maryland, for trial."Apparently John Markley was a covetous or greedy person, for,
before he set fire to the Newey house, he stole a number of articles and carried them away with him. Except for a comparatively small sum of money the stolen goods were of little value.
They proved, however, to be the murderer's undoing for, as circumstantial evidence, they played no small part in putting the "noose around his neck." One example of this was given in a newspaper account, published just before Markley's trial, as follows:"The trial of Markley, which is to take place in a few months, precludes the possibility of saying anything which might have a tendency to prejudice his case;
but the following, which has been related to us, has interest, and is the subject of common conversation: — Mr. Charles Smith, of Waynesburg (Waynesboro), Pennsylvania, was lately in Baltimore, Maryland, where he was shown a ten dollar note taken from Markley, which he identified as one which he had given the late Mr. Newey. He knew it because, when Mr. Newey demurred about taking it, he wrote his own name on the back of it, and took a memorandum of the number."John Markley was brought to trial on Wednesday, May 18, 1831, at Frederick, Maryland, and was arraigned on two separate indictments, the one for the murder of Mrs. Lydia Newey, and the other for the murder of John Newey,
her husband. Judge Thomas Buchanan presided during the trial and, at its conclusion, pronounced sentence.The people in Adams and Franklin Counties followed the court proceedings with great interest.
After all the crime had taken place practically at their "back door." The newspapers of the day kept reporters on the job at Frederick and published detailed accounts of all the evidence — both for and against the suspect.As stated before John Markley never confessed the crime for which he was executed. That being the case the evidence had to be very conclusive, for never before had a person been hanged,
in the state of Maryland on strictly circumstantial evidence. A careful study of the trial records and newspaper accounts of the same tend to prove just how airtight a case the prosecution had — Markley himself had, so to speak,
through greed and avarice, condemned himself.The first witness called, after the proceedings got under way,
was George Flaute, the husband of the woman who had helped the Neweys butcher and had heard the murderers signalling to one another when on her way home that fatal night. Mr. Flaute testified as follows: "In the morning I called up my boys early, a few hours before day — when my wife arose from bed she looked out of the window, and remarked that there was a great smoke over towards Newey's. One of my boys ran down and returned upon one of Mr. Newey's horses and told us the house was on fire and he saw no one about. I went down — the house was all on fire —
we had a good view of the inside of the house, and saw Newey (the husband and father) lying on the floor with his feet towards the bed and his head towards the door — the hair was burnt off his head and the skull and skin appeared quite white. On the left side of his head there was a hole
— it appeared to have been made with an axe — the skull was broken in. I examined it particularly because I expected I would have to testify on the subject.""I blew a horn to bring the neighbors together — after they came we started throwing water on the fire, and it was then that I saw the bodies of Mrs. Newey and the children."These notes will be continued in a future column.

Says County Hog-Raising Big

Business: Adams county has few

out Wednesday evening at a meet-

Let's Look At The Record

JOHN FOSTER DULLES
No Time To Send In A New Quarterback;
Mr. Dulles Personifies Spirit Of Unity

By JIM DAN HILL, Ph.D.

President, Wisconsin State College, Superior

JOHN FOSTER DULLES, though

racked with pain and confined by a dreaded affliction, should be retained in the office of secretary of state until a more opportune time for change.Whether he misses a few conferences here or there is unimportant. Those more spectacular, but often less important conference pronouncements can be performed by other members of the team.The plays and counterplays for the Berlin show-down have already been designed, signals have been rehearsed, moves and alternate switch-plays have been clarified with America's allies.This is no time to put in a new quarterback who, dazzled by the glare of the floodlights, could get ambitious ideas and suddenly abandon the tight line tactics for wings out and back, spread tackles and inspired passes that look good but lose the game.

THERE ARE THOSE who say

Mr. Dulles should be retained as a courtesy and public recognition of a distinguished record. Neither he, nor any other conscientious,
public servant will buy that idea.
Mr. Dulles has never been a reward seeking, glory hunter.But the idea of retention in recognition of past services is an invitation to look at the Dulles comparative record.AMERICA HAS had almost twice as many secretaries of state as there have been presidents. Though some chief executives have kept the same man in charge of foreign affairs for two full terms, as did Thomas Jefferson through the difficult 1812 era, others have been quite hard to please.WOODROW WILSON changed cabinet officers like a fastidious man changes shirts, and three of the shifts to fresh linen were in the State Department. Actually, Wilson was his own secretary of state. All praise and all blame, 1913-21, belong to him. And he merits a lot of praise.FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT likewise handled his own foreign affairs but he avoided changes by finding a pliant rubber stamp whose own memoirs indicate he did little more than stay in-the-know and keep an eye on the secret files. When he retired for age, 1944, Edward R. Stettinius moved in.Did you say you do not remember him? There is no reason why you should!PRESIDENT TRUMAN was instinctively a top flight diplomat.
Some of his biggest and best decisions were in foreign affairs
when he did not have time to consult the "experts." But he doubted his own excellent judgment; felt others should do it.Thus, when he broke with James F. Byrnes, he turned to General Marshall. His unhappy contribution was the current China mess which he triggered by selling Chiang Kai-shek short and blowing a kiss to an "agrarian reformer" named Mao Tse-tung.Gen. Marshall happily retired.
Dean G. Acheson moved in. His intentions were good, but he is most widely remembered today
for his folly in calling a special press conference to tell the world
he would not "turn his back"
upon a known perjurer and traitor, Alger Hiss.AGAINST such a kaleidoscopic parade of secretaries of state within many current memories,
one might well argue Mr. Dulles would not have to be very goodto look superb. But some of his predecessors have been quite able; they just lacked opportunity.Mr. Dulles is in a class with such famous secretaries of state
as John Hay, Richard Olney, William H. Seward, Daniel Webster, James Monroe, and James Madison, largely because his President, like theirs, refused to do the work of the secretary of state in addition to his own duties.Mr. Dulles, through in constant touch with his chief, has enjoyed a freedom and responsibility for decision few diplomats have enjoyed since the invention of the trans-Atlantic telephone and the radio code scramblers. Extremely well trained for the job, Mr.
Dulles has made the most of the opportunity.WORLD PEACE and an abiding faith in the ultimate spiritual perfectivity of men in relations between nations have been overpowering obsessions with him since young manhood. America's welfare in foreign affairs has long been his hobby. Though always an active Republican, he has faithfully served on various foreign assignments for all presidents since and including Wilson.Thus, through the years he became the personification of a unification of both American parties on questions of international policy. He did not invent this idea, but he has been able to practice
it with greater success than any predecessor.America needs the spirit of

Ailing Warriors Felled By Trojans; Scrubs Bow; Wildcats Here Tuesday

Minus the services of two regulars, Mike Small and Sid Weikert, because of illness and with other players limited to only part time duty due to recent virus attacks, the Gettysburg High cagers proved an easy target for the strong Chambersburg Trojans 69-47 at Chambersburg Friday evening in a South Penn League game.

Coach Lowell Schlichter of Chambersburg gave recognition of the difficult plight of the Warriors and used his regulars sparingly. The score could have been almost what the Trojans wanted it make it but Schlichter operated his outfit in such a manner as to eliminate real strenuous play.

Chambersburg was given good opposition by the Warriors in the first period but led 18-12 at the end of the quarter. Brian Jacobs and Bernie Washabaugh sparked the Trojans while Bob Furney landed a trio of goals and Tom Crst, Hardy Nichols and Bob Grosholtz one each for the Warriors.

The Trojans wrapped up the outcome in the second period on a 20-point scoring spurge. George Richardson and Jim Heatherly each tossed in a trio of goals during the spree which enabled Chambersburg to lead 39-19 at half time. Gettysburg's points came via a pair of fouls and goal by Nichols, a goal by Crst, and foul by Furney.

Juggles Lineup
Constant changes in the lineups during the second half enabled the Warriors to play on fairly even terms although the Trojans were never threatened and enjoyed a big lead throughout.

Heatherly and Richardson took the scoring honors for the winners with 14 and 14 points. Crst, Furney and Nichols hit in double figures for the Forney-men with 12, 11 and 10, respectively.

The Warriors reserves put up a fine first half before weakening in the second half to drop a 45-39 hard-fought preliminary game. A 17-point second quarter enabled the local outfit to gain a 21-20 advantage at half time but Chambersburg took the lead in the third frame to go on to victory. Scoring on both teams was evenly divided.

Gettysburg will wind up its season with two games next week. Mechanicsburg will play here Tuesday while Delone will be met at McSherrystown Friday evening.

MARK DUMARS IS NICKNAMED THE MAGICIAN

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP)—Up here they're calling little Mark DuMars "The Magician."

It just about describes the ball-handling ability of Pennsylvania State University's newest basketball idol—a 150-pound, 5-foot-10 sophomore who looks, in the words of one Penn State follower, "like a Little Leaguer."

Going into tonight's game against Syracuse, the former Sharon, Pa., High School star had scored 235 points in 14 games to lead the team. State has won eight of 14 games.

Coach John Egli said DuMars "has the potential to become the best little man I've ever coached."

An able ball handler and pin-point passer, DuMars also has earned a reputation as a budding defensive genius. Despite his few years and limited experience, Egli has consistently assigned young DuMars to handle the visitors' "big man."

His best offensive performance was against West Virginia Jan. 8 here. DuMars scored 30 points as the Nittany Lions threatened a major upset by forcing West Virginia into overtime. The Mountaineers squeaked by, however, 89-81.

Their coach, Fred Schaus, said

Ex-Bullet Coach Resides In Maine

Clyde Cole, physical instructor and coach at Gettysburg College for several years until 1951 when he was recalled for duty by the Air Force, recently retired from the service and is now residing with his wife and family at Cape Elizabeth, Maine.

Cole, born in New Jersey, starred in athletics at Penn State University, and coached in New Jersey and Pennsylvania high schools before coming here.

While at Gettysburg College he was successful as wrestling coach and also as freshman football coach.

At Cape Elizabeth he has taken up a new career as an insurance agent. His wife is a third grade teacher at Cape Elizabeth. They have three children, Clyde Jr., 14, Joyce Ann 13, and Donald R.

NATIONAL AAU INDOOR TRACK MEET TONIGHT

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—The National AAU indoor track and field championships are on tap in Madison Square Garden tonight and a whole slew of world records could be surpassed by the star-studded international field.

The most likely standard to fall would have been considered impossible a year ago. That's the high jump and 17-year-old John Thomas of Boston University will be out to erase his own 2-week-old mark of 7 feet.

He predicts he will soar 7-14, a height which would shatter all high jump records, both indoors and outdoors. Russia's Yuri (Elevator Shoe) Steanov holds the outdoor record of 7-1.

May Best Mile
There also is a good chance the mile standard will be surpassed. Ron Delany, Ireland's Olympic 1,500-meter champion, goes after his 29th straight indoor mile victory and it could be that he'll have to lower his own 403.4 mark to win.

He has a rough, tough field against him. Istvan Rozsavolgyi of Hungary, who spent most of last season chasing Delany, says he'll ignore the Irishman this time and concentrate on hitting the tape in 4:03.

Then there is the pole vault in which Don Bragg has been going up and up and up and up. His current indoor record is 15-9 1/2 and he has come close to 16 feet a couple of times.

BARRY MACKAY ADVANCES IN TENNIS MATCH

NEW YORK (AP)—Barry McKay, who has seen his tennis go from riches to rags in the space of a year, is convinced his lean days are near an end and better times are ahead.

"It's true I haven't had a very good year but I agree this is a temporary slump," the Davis Cupper from Dayton, Ohio, said today.

Acclaimed the "golden boy" of American tennis after his spectacular showing in the Davis Cup Challenge Round at Melbourne in 1957, McKay has achieved only one important victory since.

Beaf Olmedo
He beat Alex Olmedo for the Pennsylvania grass courts title at Merion last summer in a marathon in which the Peruvian had several match points. Since then he has been getting lumps from all sides.

He lost both his Davis Cup singles matches in Australia and failed to produce a single important triumph in any of the Australian tournaments.

For the second straight evening he had to come from behind Friday night to win his match in the National Indoor championships at the 7th Regiment Armory. After a shaky start, he collected himself to beat Birger Folke, little known Swede 2-6, 6-1, 6-2.

In Quarterfinals
This put the big, hard-hitting Ohio youth in the quarterfinals against Egypt's Jaroslav Drobny, top-seeded foreigner, and he must improve to stay around. Drobny easily beat Tony Vincent of New York 6-3, 6-1.

In other quarterfinal matches, top-seeded Dick Savitt of New York picks Jack Frost of Monterey, Calif., Olmedo meets Hugh Stewart of Pasadena, Calif., and junior Earl Buchholz of St. Louis, opposes Donald Dell of Bethesda, Md.

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves may have to start the 1959 baseball season with Felix Mantilla or Casey Wise at second base.

Red Schoendienst, who underwent major surgery Thursday to speed his recovery from tuberculosis, definitely is out for the start of the season and it is unlikely that he can play all this year.

Coach John Flaherty and his Delone Catholic High School cagers found the going rougher than anticipated as the York Catholic Fighting Irish encountered little trouble in disposing of the Squires, 74-51, Friday evening on the York court in a Central Penn Catholic League encounter. The defeat eliminated Delone from the second half race.

The win gave York undisputed possession of second place with a 3-1 record while Delone is now 2-2 with only one foe to meet. The Squires will tangle with Lancaster Catholic on the Lancaster court Tuesday night.

York doubled Delone's score in the initial frame by taking a 14-7 lead on the strength of fine defensive play and the scoring of Mike Hoffman and John Watson. The McSherrystown boys had even more difficulty in the second stanza as they tallied five points, with Mike Staub landing three and Dan Miller connecting for the remaining two. Pat Clark, York ace, dunked four field goals in the home team's 21-point effort.

York tallied the same number of points in the third period with Tom Laffey doing most of the damage. The Squires caught hold momentarily on the outside shooting of Jim Keffer and Miller while Cyril Weaver, John Gastley and Miller added from the foul line.

Coach John Sinkovitch cleared his bench in the final frame and consequently Delone was able to net 25 points to York's 18. The Fighting Irish's defensive work throughout the game was the deciding factor. Delone was bottled from every spot on the court and had to rely on their foul tosses in the second half.

Mike Hoffman was top scorer for the evening with 18 points followed by teammates Tom Laffey and John Watson with 17. Dan Miller paced the visitors with 16 while Mike Staub netted 8.

The superior York reserves had little trouble with the Delone JV's as the home team took a decisive 71-38 decision in the preliminary contest. Greg Lau topped the York scorers with 18 and Joe Mann landed 16. Don Hartlaub tossed in 18 for the Junior Squires with Jim Livelsberger coming close with 11.

BOSTON WINS EASTERN TITLE

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Boston's flamboyant Celtics today were the proud possessors of their third consecutive Eastern Division championship of the National Basketball Assn.

Rolling along at a .742 clip with a 46-16 won-lost record, the Celtics were shoo-ins for the title. Only the clinching day was uncertain.

Boston tucked the crown away Friday night with a 111-106 overtime victory over the Detroit Pistons.

In the first game of the doubleheader played at Detroit in the league's only action, second-place Minneapolis won a spot in the Western Division playoffs with a 116-106 triumph over New York.

Frank Ramsey personally battered the Pistons in overtime as the Celtics outscored Detroit 11-6. Ramsey, who wound up the evening's work with 31 points, posted nine in the extra session. Gene Shue was high for the Pistons with 25 points.

New York rallied from 25 points behind before becoming the Lakers third straight victim. Elgin Baylor and Dick Garmaker scored 20 each for Minneapolis. Willie Naulls topped the Knicks with 17.

Mount At Home; Bullets Play Away Tonight

Gettysburg and Mt. St. Mary's varsities have basketball games scheduled for this evening. The Bullets taking on powerful Lafayette at Easton while Mt. St. Mary's concludes its regular season program in entertaining St. Vincent's at Emmitsburg. Both games are scheduled for 8 o'clock.

Lafayette promises to be a rugged opponent for the Bullets. The Leopards are expected to have plenty of rebounding strength due to their height. Tallest men on the squad are George Hoerner 6-10, Pete Hanson 6-8, Chuck Ross 6-6, Bruce Fleming and Mike Wallace, 6-4 each.

Last year Lafayette won here 67-44.

Mt. St. Mary's will be out to repeat a 73-70 win gained earlier this season at Latrobe when they meet the Bearcats.

The Mountaineers have now pulled up to 12-12.

Playing their final home game for the Mount will be Jerry Bohlinger, Bert Sheing and Tom Leonard, all seniors.

Next Thursday, Friday and Saturday the Mountaineers will participate in the annual Mason-Dixon Conference in Washington, D. C.

AUBURN FACES KENTUCKY FIVE THIS EVENING

UN BASKETBALL SPORTS
By ED CORRIGAN

Auburn, boasting the longest winning streak in the nation, jumps head first into the lions' den tonight against Kentucky, the still-powerful defending NCAA basketball champions.

The game will be at Lexington, Ky., the Wildcats' home grounds and a court that has gobbled up no fewer than 188 opponents over the past 16 years. Kentucky has dropped only six games on its home floor in that stretch.

Auburn's winning streak stands at 30, but the Tigers have no place to go to show it off when the regular season ends because they are on NCAA probation.

Can Make Tourney
Kentucky, which was tumbled off the No. 1 perch in the weekly Associated Press poll last week after losing to Mississippi State, still has a chance to make the NCAA tournament. But the Wildcats must lick Auburn or they are doomed.

Both the Big 10 and the Ivy League could go a long way toward determining their champions—although neither can be clinched mathematically.

In the Big 10, Michigan State could all but wrap it up by beating dangerous Purdue. If all goes well from a Spartan standpoint—meaning an Illinois victory over Indiana and a Northwestern Triumph over Michigan—then Michigan State would be assured of at least a tie for the crown.

Dartmouth Vs. Princeton
As for the Ivies, the two big boys of the loop, defending champion Dartmouth and colofavorite Princeton, come to grips. Each shows a 10-0 record in league play and is eyeing the almost-certain at-large berth in the NCAA tournament that goes to the Ivy king.

Dartmouth looked just about ready for the show-down battle Friday night. The Hanover Indians sailed past Penn. 73-57, while Princeton had to come from behind to lick Harvard, 61-56.

The Southern Conference just about finished operations before the league tournament. Virginia Tech clubbed VMI, 118-60, and The Citadel clinched third place with a 64-60 decision over Davidson.

California and Washington continued to run 1-2 in the Pacific Coast Conference by turning back, respectively, Washington State and Idaho. Cal had no trouble rolling to a 61-37 triumph over the Cougars, but Washington barely got past Idaho, 61-60.

Gettysburg Junior High closed out its home season here Friday evening by dropping a doubleheader to Chambersburg in Southern Division games of the South Penn Junior High League.

The Braves' varsity (0-9) suffered a 63-23 drubbing while the reserves (3-6) were equally outclassed 45-13.

Jack Mull, the league's leading scorer, turned in another fine scoring exhibition for the Gladiators with 23 points and Jack Hollenshead backed him up with 14.

Gettysburg was in contention only in the first period although they fell behind 17-9 at the end of the round. Six of the Braves' points in the period were tossed in by Paul Duane. Duane's goal produced the only Gettysburg points in the second period as Chambersburg rolled to a huge 39-11 at half time and went on to win easily.

The Chambersburg reserves held the locals to a goal by Olson in the first quarter as they led 16-2 at half time and breezed the remainder of the way.

Gettysburg's varsity finishes at Washington Township on Tuesday. The reserve teams will also clash.

FARM & GARDEN

Cleanliness Best Parasite Preventative; Try Crosses For More Pigs Per Litter

By FRANK ZETTL
Adams County Farm Agent

Farmers looking for more pigs per litter, more pigs weaned per sow, and faster gaining pigs will want to take a look at the results of the swine crossbreeding experiments at the Penn State Agricultural Experiment Station.

Frank S. Zettl

Over a four-year period Penn State, in cooperation with the U.S. Department of Agriculture, studied the performance of purebred and crossbred swine. The pure breeds were Berkshire, Chester White, Hampshire, and Poland China. The crossbreeds were crosses of one of these breeds and one of seven inbred strains. The inbred strains were developed by the USDA and were based on the Landrace breed, or crosses of Landrace and other breeds.

The results show that with a systematic crossbreeding program, you can get more pigs per litter, more pigs weaned per sow and increased growth rate and vigor. These findings are similar to those obtained at other experiment stations where comparisons have been made of crosses and purebreds.

Distant Cousins
In general, it has been found that the less related the breeds or strains, the better the performance of the crossbreeds. And in general the better performing strains or animals produce the best performing crossbreeds. Therefore in a crossbreeding program it's very important to select the breeding animals with care.

The research showed that crossbred gilts outproduced the purebred gilts in such facts as these: About two pigs more per litter and two and a half pigs more per sow at weaning time with the crossbred litter weighing about 100 pounds more at weaning time.

If these are things you want in your hog program, better look in to crossbreeding.

Once Off Prevention
No drug can ever take the place of good sanitation in control of livestock parasites.

Drugs can't correct damage already done by worms, and the only way to prevent damage is to keep the animals from harboring parasites in the first place. This can only be accomplished by proper sanitation and good management.

These general rules to prevent parasite infestation in livestock are suggested:

Feed and water livestock in such a way that there is no manure contamination. Plans for the sanitary feed bunks and hay racks are available in the extension office.

Avoid Crowding
Avoid crowding. Because of greater concentration of parasites and other infections, crowding promotes contamination and easier spread of infection.

Pasture young animals away from mature stock on clean pasture. Clean pasture is newly-planted grass, hay fields, or any land that has not been heavily grazed for at least six months. Provide clean, disinfected quarters, or clean pasture, for the birth of young animals, and separate them from adults as soon as possible.

Animals, well fed on a balanced ration, resist parasite infection. Parasites become a problem only where sound sanitation and feeding are lacking.

Boost Wheat
Topdressing wheat in the spring with nitrogen can prove a profitable use of fertilizers. However, use it sparingly on fertile ground to avoid lodging. Growth that is too rank also depresses new seedlings.

It's best to get the nitrogen on early because late applications may burn new growth. Results of experimental work show that the best time to topdress is just after the wheat starts to grow in the spring. Buy many farmers who have been putting on nitrogen while the ground was still frozen have had good results.

A quickly-soluble nitrogen fertilizer such as sulfate of ammonia, ammonium nitrate, nitrate of soda, or Urea is recommended.

Need Varies
Amounts required vary with fertility of fields. On wheat that ordinarily would yield 15 to 25 bushels per acre, 30 to 40 pounds of actual nitrogen per acre are recommended. A grain drill may be used or for pelleted or granular fertilizers, a cyclone seeder.

The quicker-acting commercial fertilizers are preferred to manure in topdressing although farm manure, at a minimum of six loads per acre, will help to increase yields.

Manure has the advantage of providing a mulch that helps prevent winter heaving and killing, and helps condition the soil for spring seedlings.

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

CHAPPAQUA, N. Y. (AP) — Gardeners who fuss over houseplants during the winter months are now confronted with their annual problem: how to expand window sill space for the accommodation of a motley assortment of milk containers, pie pans, trays and wooden cream cheese boxes. The season for starting flower and vegetable seed has arrived.

From now until mid-May — which is usually the safe outside planting time in this section — the three sunniest windows in our house function as substitute greenhouses at the expense of decor and some personal comfort. One east window has a card table in front, making access to a bureau difficult if not impossible. A bookcase is moved in front of a south window in the same bedroom. And the living room's television set is moved from the second south window to make room for an end table — with the result that the best place now from which to watch TV is inside the fireplace.

However, this temporary dislocation is worth the rewards — growing one's own plants from seed. And the season's first seed-sowing can start now, with the slow starters like petunias, snapdragons and tomatoes, which with proper care should be sturdy little seedlings when the outside planting day finally rolls around.

Seed Pans
The life of the window sill gardener has been eased somewhat by the appearance of little plastic seed pans already sown with seed which are available in supermarkets in many sections — all set to go with the application of water and exposure to sunshine. The little trays are a good size for the window sill and I save them from year to year. A lot of indoor gardeners use waxed cardboard milk containers — pouring board securely closed and cut open on one long side. Also on the market are plant bands which may be set inside another container and later peeled off without disturbing the soil and seedlings.

It is a good idea to take precautions against leakage, however, by using trays, for water can ruin finished surfaces and flake paint.

Medium
Initially, the seeds need merely a water-retaining medium in which to grow: sand, expanded mica or something similar will do because seeds carry their own built-in food supplies, designed to last until they have sprouted working roots. At that point they must be transplanted into soil containing some food: a light potting soil, indicated when they have sprouted their first real leaves — as opposed to the little seed leaves that first appear. The containers, however, should have some drainage — broken flower pots or gravel — so that excess water can not

5-10-10 or 10-10-10, provide nitrogen for the wheat and phosphorus and potash to help the new seedling.

rot the roots. Incidentally, that first transplanting usually expands by four the amount of space required by the seedlings because each plant needs adequate space in which to establish a root system.

Until the seed pushes through the soil, the containers are best kept in a cool, dark spot, covered with a glass or newspaper to keep the soil moist. When sprouts appear, bring them into the light and sunshine. Water them — preferably from the bottom — as the soil appears to need it, and keep turning the containers so the plants don't lean toward the sunshine.

Fresh seed is best, but some of last year's seed may be usable. Test by scattering a few seeds between two moistened blotters. Keep them moist for 10 days, and then determine whether most have germinated.

Here's The Answer

By ANDREW C. LANG
The Associated Press

QUESTION: I intend to varnish some unfinished furniture we bought recently. How many coats of varnish are required? Some times I read that two coats are sufficient, other times that three or four coats are necessary. Which is correct?

ANSWER: There is no rigid formula for determining how many coats of varnish should be applied. In most cases, two coats are sufficient. But where exceptionally fine work is desired, three, four or even five coats are recommended. Even more important is the quality of the work. The first coat should be thinned with turpentine . . . about one part of turpentine to five parts of varnish. Remember that varnish is flowed on, not brushed on as with paint. And sand lightly between coats. Be sure to read the directions carefully to determine how much time to allow between coats, as some varnishes dry in a few hours, others take at least 24 hours.

QUESTION: We bought our house when it was new two years ago. On one wall of the living room, there are a few hairline cracks in the plaster. I had planned on wetting the cracks, then rubbing some mixed spackling putty into the cracks. But a friend of mine tells that it is better to rub the dry spackling material into the cracks without mixing it with water. Is he right?

ANSWER: Either method may be used. The rubbing of the dry powder into the cracks is easier, but doesn't always work. You might try it first; then if it does not turn out all right, go ahead with the more usual method of wetting the cracks and filling them with putty, made by mixing the powder with water. This mixture, which should be somewhat watery, is brushed into the cracks.

(Questions of general interest sent to this newspaper will be answered by Mr. Lang in his column. He cannot engage in individual correspondence.)

THE HEART OF PRAYER
By June Lockhart
Screen And Stage Star

I was about four years old when my mother and father took me for a walk one morning along a rutted country lane in Canada.

June Lockhart

"June, I'd like to teach you a special prayer."

Then Daddy began to speak the words that I have since repeated so often. "Hail Mary," he said, and paused. "Hail Mary, full of grace, the Lord is with thee."

Can Pray Anywhere

Because of that childhood experience, I have always felt a naturalness about praying anywhere — even sitting on a fencepost. And I know a great many people who feel the same way: a prayer can be offered anywhere.

But I don't feel that all places are really equal as places of prayer. There are some where prayer has always seemed to me more necessary and important: the home, for example.

EQUAL RECORD
PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A record equalling low temperature of nine degrees was recorded Friday at the Weather Bureau's Airport Station.

It matched the low for the date set in 1893, and also equaled the low for the season — on Feb. 2, when the groundhog in all his wisdom forecast six more weeks of winter.

desperately ill with a lung infection. Everyone in the community felt a deep sense of concern, especially plump, bespectacled Marie. Marie was the housekeeper for the local parish.

A Beloved Pastor

When neighbors brought word to Marie that the doctors had given up hope, she burst into tears. "If only Father Luke were here," she said, "he could do something."

But Father Luke had recently died. For many years the pastor of the little church of Our Lady of the Lake, Father Luke had been greatly loved because of his deep concern for the needs of people. And particularly for the way he used his God-given, sensitive hands to bring God's healing power into sickness cases. In fact, his saintliness still permeated the little church — and the community itself. So it was natural that Marie should think longingly of the priest at a time of illness.

Marie had been praying for the baby regularly at the parish house ever since he took ill. But now she felt she had to do something more — she had to go down to the church.

So Marie slipped out, walked across the lawn from the parish house to the little church. She opened the door and stepped in. Candles burned and a faint odor of incense lingered in the air. Marie saw that she was alone.

A Vision
She knelt at the altar railing, and prayed for a long time. Suddenly in the deep concentration of her prayer came the visualization of a pair of hands, strong and sensitive, and cradled in the hands was a baby.

She saw it for only an instant, and then it was gone. Marie was mystified, and saddened. It seemed to her that the baby had died and that she had seen it being born to heaven. She hurried out of the church to the house of the baby's parents, as she wanted to offer any help that was needed.

But when Marie arrived, she was greeted not with tears, but with joyous words:

"Marie! The doctor just telephoned from the hospital. The baby's going to be all right!"

What It Meant
For a moment, Marie was startled, and then a mental picture flashed through her mind . . . of course . . . the loving hands meant healing.

Why was Marie's experience with prayer in church so much stronger than anything she had felt at home? Wasn't it because the prayers of so many people guided by a saintly man had turned a simple building into a house of prayer?

That is what I feel, whenever I enter a church. I feel the hush of thousands of prayers steal over me. I feel the impact of the words of Christ. "It is written," He said long ago, "My house shall be called the house of prayer."

MONDAY — John Lewellen tells the inspiring story of Mahalia Jackson, called the world's greatest gospel singer, and how faith brought her from poverty to fame and helped her to keep an important promise.

TELLS ABOUT JUKEBOXES AND RACKETS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Alleged efforts by a Teamster Union official to push a record of singer Tommy Leonetti into Chicago area jukeboxes without the singer's knowledge were reported to the Senate Rackets Committee Friday.

Robert Lindloff, Skokie, Ill., jukebox operator and president of Music Operators of Northern Illinois, a trade association, testified that he turned down requests to feature the record.

Lindloff said the requests came from Joseph Glimco, president of Chicago Teamsters Local 777.

The witness also testified that he and many other jukebox operators "have to" buy records for their jukeboxes from a firm the committee says is gangster run.

Unknown To Singer

Robert F. Kennedy, counsel to the special investigating committee, told the senators he interviewed Leonetti and was told "this may have been going on by underworld figures", but that Leonetti didn't know it at the time.

Kennedy quoted the singer as stating that he was managed for a time by "a man with underworld connection" of which Leonetti was unaware. He said Leonetti also told him he "came out rather poorly" while the man, whose name was not mentioned, was his manager.

The testimony capped some sharp exchanges in which Kennedy charged that Lindloff was afraid to tell frankly of gangster infiltration of the jukebox industry in suburban Chicago.

Roasting a chicken? Baste it lovingly with butter and tarragon and you'll have a delectable bird.

LOOK AGAIN AT THESE GOOD NEIGHBORS OF YOURS!

The National Guardsmen in America's first line of defense are your own good neighbors. You know them. You're in school with them. Or on the job beside them. They're your friends. And they're a proud group of men.

You might join them, you know — especially if you're over 17 years of age and faced with a military obligation. In the National Guard, this patriotic obligation to serve your country is actually a great opportunity:

- the opportunity to serve your country in a man's outfit with units older than this country itself!
- the opportunity to serve your home community in any really serious local emergency!

• the opportunity to serve yourself! Because in the National Guard you train right in your own neighborhood, learning valuable skills that help you advance in the Guard, and in your civilian occupation. What's more, you add to your income and pile up retirement credits . . . like putting money in the bank!

If you're a veteran, the National Guard offers opportunities for you. You may advance your rating — you add extra pay to your income — you build up retirement benefits on top of those you've already earned. And, most important, you pass on to younger men the experience you've acquired during your own active service.

Get all the facts today — at your National Guard Armory. There's no obligation, of course — and you'll be welcome.
